

AMENDMENT TO THE CLAIMS:

This listing of the claims will replace all prior versions, and listings, of the claims in this application.

5 Listing of Claims:

1.-31. (Canceled)

32. (New) A method for predicting passenger flow at a transportation facility, comprising:

receiving a request for passenger flow information from a requester;

10 selecting and analyzing passenger reservation data and other transportation facility-specific data in response to said request;

providing said passenger flow information based on said data, in response to said analyzing step;

posting said passenger flow information on a web site;

15 assigning zones to said transportation facility-specific data according to operational groups and physical locations;

arranging said passenger reservation data by trip and including in said passenger reservation data a number of reservations for at least one of:

a transport class;

passenger gender;

20 passenger booking country; and connecting transport information, wherein the step of arranging said passenger reservation data by trip includes arranging said passenger reservation by flight number;

parsing said passenger reservation data before the selecting and analyzing step, the parsing step including removing confidential passenger information before storing said passenger reservation data in a data repository; and the selecting step further comprising selecting said passenger reservation data from said data repository;

5 including in said passenger reservation data at least one of:

travel itinerary data, including at least one of:

hotel reservation data;

booking country of travel;

travel package data; and 10 car rental data;

including in said transportation facility-specific data past records of passenger flow activities, including at least one of:

gate allocation by arrival data;

gate allocation by departure data;

15 actual arrival times for said craft; and actual departure times for said craft;

presenting said passenger flow information in graphical form; and billing said transportation facility in accordance with passenger flow requests received.